High school building before addition of new wing

Progress and Expansion Mark Austin's Educational Growth

A century ago a log house was erected, the first outward sign of Austin's role in formalized education. From a one room school, the system has progressed to a community consisting of nine grade schools, the high school, junior college, and the Area Vocational School.

Our high school building has also experienced change. From the original structure with its glass covered hot house and medieval columns, a sprawling three story building covering two blocks has emerged. As our physical plant has increased in size, our teaching staff, enrollment, and curriculum have also expanded. Emphasis has been placed on meeting individual needs so that we students will be more adequately prepared to take our place in today's complex society. In order that we may further become well-rounded individuals more and more extra-curricular activities have been organized to challenge our varied outside interests.

Thus, it follows that in such an atmosphere, we students, also, must change and mature. As confident seniors, we look back to the time when we were timid seventh or ninth graders bewildered by the "newness" of Austin High, and we realize how much we, too, have improved.

Year's Activities Recalled With Touch of Nostalgia

Brick walls, classrooms, gymnasium, athletic field—these things are part of any high school. Yet, for us they have a special significance because we associate them with Austin High. As we approach the end of another school year, we pause in retrospect. The year has had its supremely happy times, its cutting disappointments, and its run-of-the-mill days. Homecoming, the Christmas Concert, Sweethearts, the State Tournament —these were the big exciting moments. But we recall other moments, too—a favorite class, wearisome hours of sports practice, aptitude tests, assemblies—the list goes on and on. And all these things have just a little more meaning because they happened while we were students at Austin High School.

The year ends, the seniors graduate, our friends may move to another town; but our memories remain. Hoping to foster these recollections of 1954-55 at Austin High School, the Austinian Staff has preserved in picture and word what we consider to be a representative record of our school life.

Royalty, Tradition

"Homerooms tomorrow at 8:30; the Senior Band will march 6th hour today; any student with an empty garage is asked to come to room 204." With these announcements Austin High School was immediately transformed into a whirlpool of excitement as the 1955 Homecoming season approached. The annual bonfire and snake dance activities introduced the big event at the Athletic Field. Brightly lit faces sang and cheered excitedly about the traditional bonfire. Austin had caught that ever elusive enthusiasm and glow, but this was only the beginning! . . . . .

Heart of Homecoming Festivities

Homecoming Day dawned beneath a crystal clear sky and the dew of early morning mirrored the images of typical students putting the last-minute touches on their original floats. The spirit of homecoming could not be stilled as tales of the last night's escapades, the continual buzz of girls trying to choose clothes, and the determined looks which said that this was the game reigned supreme in the hearts and minds of all. It was an excited group which laughed at the pep skit and then sat in hushed silence as Queen Jane approached her throne to the strains of "Hail to Thee." Then, leaving the assembly, milling students finally reached Main Street where they viewed the results of their labor—each certain that his was the best. At night, however, in spite of an intense desire to win, Austin was forced to submit to a 20-0 defeat. But this didn't crush their spirits as couples drifted lightly at Lamplight Serenade—a fitting climax to a week of blissful happiness and enthusiastic celebration.

Students Plan Future

Realistic education in the vocation of one's choice seems to be the standard theme of Austin's new area vocational building. This building has been on the agenda for some time and was finally made ready for use in the fall of 1954. Hundreds of students who range in interests from farm courses to merchandizing and music are already reaping the benefits of this outstanding plan. The classes, however, do not stop at 3:08—many a light is seen burning as the adults of the area take over in the evening for various types of night schooling.

Certain inovations which came as a result of this addition were the underground walk, via the tunnel, the display window which exhibits the skills of the merchandizing class, and the transfering of all music groups to the new quarters.

We, the Austin student body, can feel very proud of this new addition to an already outstanding school program which is a symbol of Austin's growing desire to see the youth of the area obtain the ultimate in education.

At Work and In School

"Just wait till you're a senior! You'll be a real wheel then!" How often we hear these words and how eagerly we anticipate them. Then at last we are seniors, and there comes the sobering thought that our high school activities will soon end. Each of us will walk our separate path into the future; but which path shall we choose—college or work?

Some seem always to have known exactly what they will do and a few others will advance from their on-the-job training to full time employment. But the greater majority of us must weigh the advantages and disadvantages of college or a job. If we favor college life, we must consider whether our budget can stand the financial strain or ponder what course we should pursue. Should the work-a-day world be our choice, the questions—what kind of job, what chances for advancement, and how adequate is the salary—arise and must be answered.

Yes, our senior year is wonderful; but with it come some of our most important decisions and our first real encounter with the future, bewildering yet inviting.

From Slumber to Studies Is An Effort

Rise and shine all ye who profess to be scholars but hate to accept the alarm clock as being on the level! Ah yes, from the blissful clouds of unreality we must be dragged once more into the chains of everyday existence. But never fear, people have been surviving under this burden for generations and I have an inkling we might also. The way things look these boys should have been non-conformists and stuck to the foot paths. But alas—all cars of AHS have been molded by masterminds to fulfill the extreme need of the typical student. No matter what the obstacle, we always manage to arrive—this doesn't, however, guarantee in what condition!

Where to begin? Theme due in English, report assigned for history, science experiment to complete. But we dig in—Shakespeare, Keats, Bismark, and Cromwell become familiar figures; and H2O, law of gravity, and isotopes are soon part of our vocabulary. Yes, we store away much useful knowledge for the present and future as we attend our scheduled classes. Yet, helpful as these sessions may be, our energy and attention run low about eleven, and when, at last our lunch period arrives, it's a welcome break.

But there's another aspect of our classes, too. Such electives as art, music, and journalism, although frustrating at times, offer a pleasant change in our daily routine. The school day passes and it's 3:08—time for those "special doings" we've been eagerly anticipating!

Our Day Comes to A Perfect End

The banging of lockers, piles of books, and excited talk on what's to come seems to be a signal that the formal studies are complete for the day. Lockers are the only space one can call his own and the extent of making it homelike is varied.

As we leave the school for unknown destinations the work and talk of the day is far from forgotten. Some participate in sports or clubs while others sprinkle in a bit of laughter and fun over a coke or with friends. Then to bed, but no—the books "must be cracked" despite droopy eyes. And so we close, thinking back on the events of the day and preparing for a similar one tomorrow!

We Lead in Many Fields

Pecple, people, and more people—smart ones, average ones, glowing ones, sad ones. A great many factors contribute to an individual's success. For instance, those pictured on this page are typical students plucked from our high school's swarming mass on the basis of their respective abilities. All seem to possess a naturally sensitive interest in others plus a streak of brilliance or the gift of speaking.

Although some never attain recognition remember—the greatest gift is to be yourself and when the situation arises, apply your talents to the utmost of your ability.

"The throng loves the winner, whatever the test,
The crowd likes the man who has proved he is best.
But cheers for the victor would seldom be heard

To Each His Own

School days, school days
Ping pong, cards, and pool days;
Movies, TV, Shaw Gym, and such,
Things that the students all like so much;
These are the pastimes we enjoy,
They entertain each girl and boy;
These hobbies add life to every day,
As we turn from studies to play.

School—that magical, mystical period in life which seems to drag on forever and yet flies by all too soon. Crowded halls, rushing students, piles of books, and lessons often lead us into a state of utter depression. And yet—when the 3:08 bell finally rings, we are lifted joyously into a mood of elation. With school forgotten, we rush for the Shaw Gym, a friend's house, the nearest ice cream store, or an easy chair and the TV set. Yes, relaxation—whether it be in the form of vigorous athletics or a quiet TV show—is certainly welcomed by AHS students at the close of a long but profitable day.

Life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness bestowed on us by our forefathers and made available to all whose beings pulse with life. A great deal can be learned about a person's character by taking a look at what he feels qualifies in this pursuit of real happiness.

Some individuals seem to be blessed with an abundance of vitality—not stopping until achieving near perfection; others prefer to "dab" in everything, getting the feel of variety but a clutch on nothing.

Numerous activities and facilities are offered in school and about the community to develop our ingenuity and originality. Life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness—it is every man's ultimate desire to find this happiness and to live it!

Music, music, music—the hotter the beat and the faster the tempo the better some like it; while others prefer it slow and moody. And tastes in food vary equally—some individuals seem to thrive on pop and dill pickles, while others choose a more cautious diet. Evaluations of such an evening also vary from best ever to could have been better.

From Mambo to Cat Walk dancing was the pass word for an evening of fun at the school mixers when music-mad students "lived it up" to the strains of various bands. Women Pay All—most girls leap at these words, sparing neither money nor time to give the fellow of her choosing a varied week. It has long been an Austin High tradition to turn the tables once each year and girls, as of now, haven't by-passed the opportunity and, if life continues normally, I doubt if they ever will.

WPA week was marked by an industrious gal loaded down with books trying in vain to also open a locker, some enthusiast walking her date to the door, or, in rare instances, treating him to a steak. Then, as WPA week ends, money jingles in the lad's hand and anticipation is left once again to the girls as they bow to the fact that it's a man's world!

It's The Loveliest

With spring, the season of sighs and flowers, came the Prom. As soon as school closed, dozens of boys could be seen gathered together in cars and crowds discussing the evening's agenda, anxious girls retired to their bedrooms to brush, press, and try on their original outfits, and overworked mothers bustled around their houses trying desperately to prepare for dinners, parties, and other celebrations.

Hours later, as the shades of night began to fall, many of the fortunate juniors and seniors attended dinner parties where sizzling steak or hot spaghetti was served to all. Soon, although it seemed impossible, eight o'clock arrived. Girls did their final primping and anxiously glanced at watches and doors; boys uncomfortably crawled into their freshly pressed suits, parents cringed as the family car sped out of the driveway, and the Terp Ballroom, scene of the annual Junior and Senior Prom, hummed with excitement.

Then as couples danced gaily to the dreamy band music, Prom night was in full swing. Spare moments were at a premium and the few minutes between dances were spent in enthusiastic conversation. The Grand March, always a high point in the evening's program, seemed the most beautiful ever. After another hour of dancing, the clock struck midnight and Austin Juniors and Seniors left the Terp with tired feet but light hearts.

Night of the Year

But who is to say that Prom night ends at twelve? For a few it is true; but for the large majority midnight was little more than the beginning of a night packed with excitement and fun. Following the dance, the upperclassmen split up to go to various private parties or to the Austin Country Club where over 100 gathered to dance, talk, and eat. But alas, as do all good things, the parties came to an end and fishing, swimming and watermelon busts consumed the rest of the time.

Then between the hours of five and six droopy-eyed juniors and seniors sat down to delicious breakfasts and reviewed the past evening's activities. With breakfast finished, tennis and golf were attempted despite fatigue.

It was Thursday morning—twelve hours before Commencement excercises, when weary but happy couples piled into their cars and headed for home. As thoughtful girls and boys reflected on the events of the past hours, they knew the Prom had ended. They were home, but would they go to bed? Why, never! Sleep—that was only for other nights.

Seniors Reflect - '55 Is the Best Year!

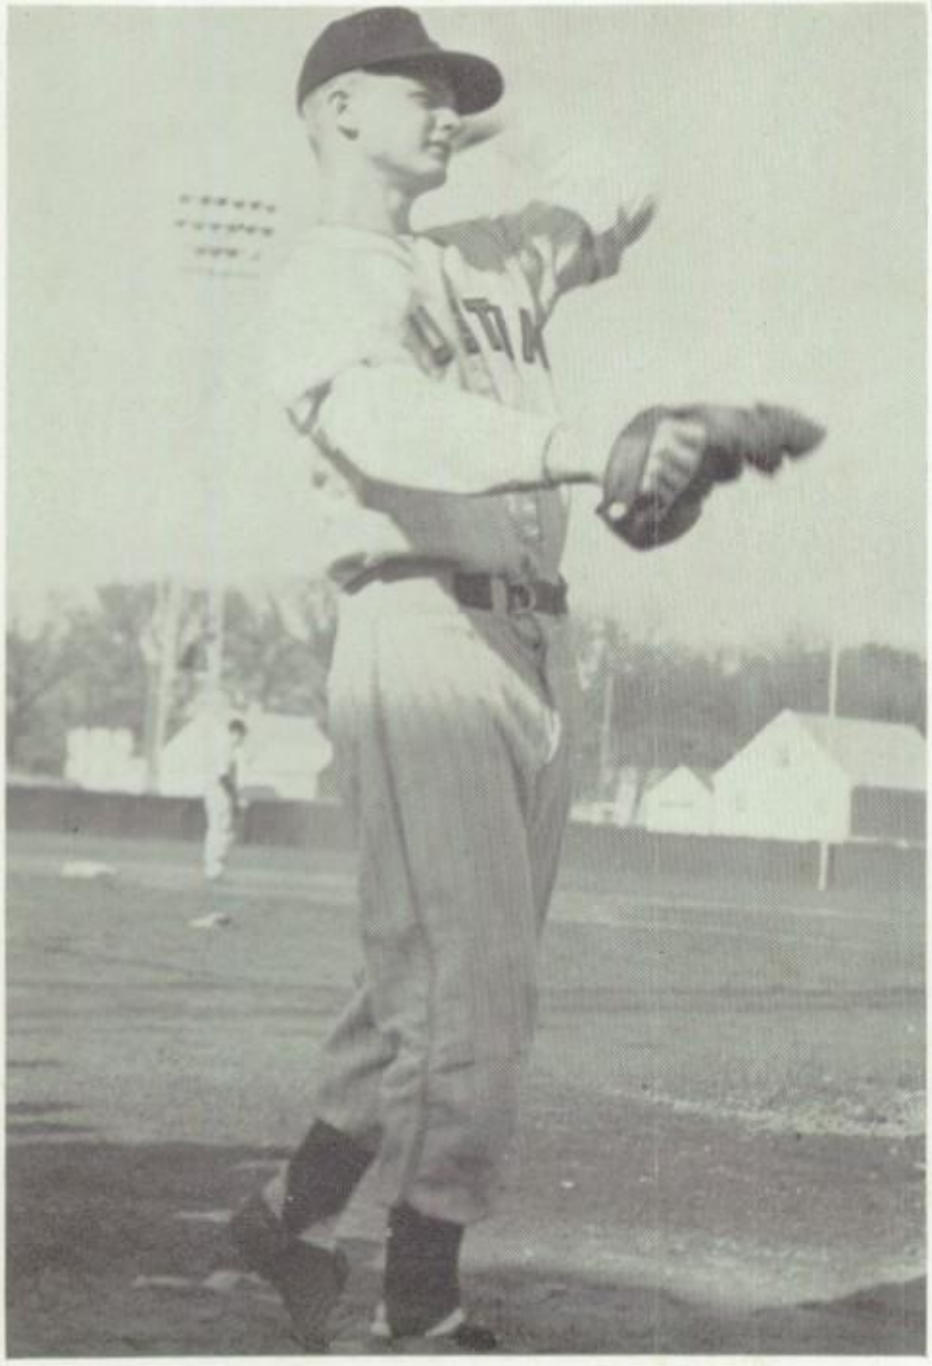
Senior party goer's raised their hands in a salute as the clock struck New Year's Day, 1955—elated seniors filed out of a packed Williams Arena after Austin won a thriller from Bemidji singing "'55 is the best year," and throughout the fun-packed Senior Skip Day this same refrain could be heard. Yes, to 350 graduating seniors of AHS '55 is the best year—their senior year. Filled with thrilling memories of a wonderful homecoming, state tournament, Skip Day, Prom, and dozens of other equally enjoyable times, these seniors will approach the auditorium steps for the last time at commencement. Although most of them graduate reluctantly, they are looking with hope toward the future—a future which could very well be as enjoyable and inspiring at '55—their senior year.

SPORTS

Sports Are Integral Part of School Life

Tweet!!——Thud!! It's an end over end kick ——So begins another year of sports at Austin High.

From the earliest days of junior high, sports play an extremely important role in the lives of AHS students. Even those who watch their classmates perform are gaining an invaluable experience which will never be forgotten. Learning how to accept your team's victories or its defeats is a lesson which once instilled in a person, will benefit him in future years.



The players, of course, are the ones who probably gain the most from sports. It is through their participation that they learn the value of teamwork and sportsmanship, as well as the worth of a healthy body. Perhaps the most cherished gains are the memories of all the games and the experiences they produced.

As the first kickoff of the football season opens the year of sports, so does the last call of "You're out!" by the umpire close the baseball season and the sports year. It has been a thrill-packed unforgettable one. Whether we won or lost is now of no consequence, for the worthwhile experiences cannot be written off in the record books. Hail, therefore to the sports of Austin High School!

Season Proves Difficult

This year's football squad found the Big Nine competition the toughest it has been in several years with even the cellar teams proving a strong threat to the leaders. In more than one instance, the weaker either won decisive victories or gave the upper teams close games. Austin figured in one of these upsets by defeating a heavily favored Mankato club but turned right around and allowed a small Northfield team to hand them a defeat in the last game of the season.

Potentially the Packers weren't as strong as previous teams. Injuries played an effective part in weakening the squad. Dan Greenameyer and Bob Jacob were disabled for the season by breaks while stars O'Dis Halverson and Terry Meyer suffered injured noses and knees throughout the season.

Coach Hass, assisted by Jim Graven and Hal Cuff, revamped the offensive assignments besides making a complete switch to the split T.

Thirty-one players emerged from the season as lettermen. They were, seniors—Halverson, David E. Johnson, McLaughlin, Hammer, Jacob, Lightly, Vilt, Howard, Moucha, Johnson, Austin, Eckert, J. Holgate, Cunningham, Guintire, T. Holgate, Meyer, Plath, Greenameyer, Veverka, Arnold, Juniors—Sellers, Tridle, Carr, Kehret, Cooley, Wilcox, Knowlton, Mathias, Roach, and Sophomore—Jerry Wilde. Managers Paul Schroeder and Robert James also received their letters.

Season In Review

ALBERT LEA

A hard-fought game ending in a 6-6 deadlock opened the 1954 football season for Austin and Albert Lea. Although both teams lacked power offensively, defensively they showed spark and aggressiveness for coming games. Leading the strong forward wall for Austin were Larry Arnold, Sid Baldwin, and Ross Eckert.

ST. PAUL WASHINGTON

After trailing 12-7 at halftime, Austin rallied the second half to defeat their non-conference foe, St. Paul, Washington, by a score of 20-12.

Fumbles plagued both teams frequently but progress was shown defensively by the Austin Packers.

MANKATO

Showing their sharpest performance during the season, Austin produced a surprising victory over a highly favored Mankato club. Nothing but praise could be said about their superior playing in defeating the Scarlets 12-0. A fast charging forward line not only opened paths for runners Meyer, Arnold, and Plath, but knitted an almost impenetrable defense line.

Looking Back

RED WING

Homecoming spirits were lowered considerably when the Big Nine leader, Red Wing, trounced the Packers 20-0 in a game dominated by the Wingers. A nifty 75 yard pass from Wayne Peterson to Clinton Johnson gave Red Wing their first of a series of touchdowns.

Only once did Austin come close to a touchdown, but lost the ball to the Wingers.

OWATONNA

Austin's fifth game of the season ended in a 0-0 tie with the Owatonna Indians. Twice Austin plowed to Owatonna's 10 yard line, but due to a slippery ball and a wet field, they were unable to launch any further attack.

FARIBAULT

A fumble in the waning minutes caused a fast turn of luck with the Austin Packers at Faribault. After charging deep into Falcon territory, Jim Drewitz of Faribault recovered an Austin fumble and scooted 76 yards for a TD, making the final score 13-12. Statistically, Austin dominated the game, but score-wise the opposite was true.

Squad members work on plays

Drill Is Essential

This familiar phrase echoes through AHS halls during the fall season, "Hey, wait and I'll trot out to football practice with you." So the cry is heard from football conscious boys who comprise Coach Hass' team.

For four days a week, from September to November, approximately forty boys rush from sixth hour classes to the athletic field, don their practice uniforms, and spend two gruelling hours perfecting the different phases of the split T.

And the result of two hours of complete consideration on football—forty boys ready to hurry home, eat supper, spend a little time on studies, and go to bed thinking about what will happen when the next scrimmage rolls around.

B Squad Indicates Football Future

From a slow start the B squad football team found its potential and finished the season in an impressive style. Coaches Elton Lehrke and Jerome Olson can be given much of the credit for this improvement.

If we can predict a future high school team by the individual advancement of its B squad members, we can look forward to some exceptionally tough squads in the near future. The whole squad shows promise both individually and as a team. Backfield standouts were Ron Carothers and Dick Lang; while Myles Asper proved his ability as a lineman.

The numeral winners of the year were: Asper, Baldwin, Baudler, Booher, Carothers, Cook, DeFor, Farrell, Furtney, Gaughran, Gilbertson, Hess, Hallum, Guntire, Kinny, Lang, Lillquist, Lembrick, Miller, Mitlyng, Nelson, Newell, Pinky, Pfister, Siever, Williams and Wolf.

Hail the Big Nine Champs!

Success again marked the end of another season for the Packers of Austin High. Coached by Ove Berven, one of the ablest and most respected coaches in the state, and his very capable assistant, Nat Goudy, Austin rolled through its second consecutive undefeated season in the Big Nine Conference. This record of 15 wins entitled them to the Big Nine crown plus eventually winning the District Two, Region One, and state runner up trophies. The Packers were stopped only once, that being in the final game of the State tournament when a strong Minneapolis Washburn squad gave the game their all and finished wearing the 1955 crown.

Coach Berven had an abundance of basketball material to work with in producing the brilliant record. Five lettermen, Terry Meyer, Jerry Olson, Tony Maus, John Lightly, and O'Dis Halverson, of last year's ten man squad, plus a newcomer, John Root, and nine B squad players helped in copping the triumphs.

Austin's prospects for next year are a bit dimmer then this year in that the five starters will graduate, but all has not been lost. Of the fifteen man squad during the regular season, nine will return to bolster the team of '56. Several B squad prospects will also move up to the A squad.

Austin Overpowers Non-conference Foes

Austin opened the '54-'55 basketball season by overpowering Minnetonka 62-34. After building up a large lead by virtue of the efforts of his starting five, Berven cleaned the bench with all the boys playing a good share of the game.

In another non-conference game, Minneapolis North was downed by the steadily improving Austin team. Austin showed greater poise on the court as they kept up a steady scoring pace to win 58-45.

Austin Wins Openers

The victory margin of the opening game of the Big Nine season for the Packers came at the free throw line. Thirty one free throws spelled the defeat of Rochester 75-62. Jerry Olson played in mid-season form as he dropped in 33 points.

A strong Winona five tasted defeat at the hands of the rampaging Austin quint 87-70. Olson's best effort of the season came in this game as he dumped 16 field goals and 14 free throws for a total of 46 points.

Cagers Conquer Conference

With only a 50-46 lead with three minutes to go against a fighting Owatonna club, Austin had reason to fear for the game's outcome. Owatonna couldn't keep the pace, however, and the Packers put on a sudden scoring splurge to win 61-49.

It was the little man of the team, Terry Meyer, who saved the day against Faribault. Althought Austin won by a good margin, 54-37, Faribault's press made it hard to get the ball across the center line. Meyer solved this problem by dribbling through the Faribault defense as if it didn't exist.

Albert Lea provided Austin with its toughest game of the season in their second encounter between the two teams. Austin had to come from behind in the last quarter to win 48-46. The low score indicates the terrific defense both teams put up. Coach Wilke of Albert Lea had his boys "up" for the game and only Austin's determination and sharp shooting put them on top.

Austin versus Red Wing was predicted by all to be the game of the year in the Big Nine. Both teams entered the game undefeated and the Austin gym and auditorium were packed with spectators eager to see the game which would decide the Big Nine Championship. The game lived up to all expectations of excitement for three quarters, but in the fourth Austin began to pull away to reach for the 59-48 victory. John Lightly's 28 points were the biggest contribution to the Austin effort.

District And Region Provide Thrills

Two types of games were portrayed in the District and Regional playoffs for a berth in the state—the hair raiser and the clincher.

The Albert Lea-Austin game can only be classified as a typical hair raiser. A fourth quarter spurt achieved by superior height and a full court press started Austin rolling to its eventual 76-64 win and a bid for the state title. Setting the pace for the Austin five was Jerry Olson with 26 points, followed by Odie Halverson with 16 and Meyer with 14.

The District Two Title was clinched when powerful Austin rolled over a small but determined LeRoy team 88-53. No doubt was left in the minds of the fans as the Packers moved steadily out in front of the Cardinals as the game progressed. Scoring honors were shared by Maus and Olson with each tallying 19 points.

Region Wins Clinch State Trip

In the most exciting game of the season, Rochester almost wrecked Austin's chances for its 19th trip to the state tourney. It was an uphill struggle for the Packers as an under-estimated McNish squad fought all the way only to lose 57-56 in the waning seconds. Lightly's final free throw won the game, but Webber's brilliant rebounding in the remaining seconds saved the day. Again it was Olson as high point man with 23 points.

A trip to the state was assured as Austin added another win to its undefeated record in beating a scrappy Wycoff club 81-59. Height and experience played a major part in the triumph as three players hit double figures. Jerry Olson dunked 34 points to raise his scoring to 1,116 during his four year career. Both Lightly's and Meyer's defensive and offensive work was outstanding as they scored 18 and 19 points respectively.

Excitement High in State

"Always the bridesmaid, never the bride!" This thought was echoed by many an Austinite after the final gun of the state tournament. After fighting from behind in the first two games to win in the final seconds, the Austin quint dropped a heartbreaker to Washburn in the final game.

Austin's first game was against a red hot Fairmont five. After watching Fairmont sink shot after shot, the Austin boys began to take things in hand. When the final gun sounded, the score was knotted. In the overtime, Austin put on a spurt that finally downed Fairmont 69-62.

In the second-round game against Bemidji, a determined Austin five again had to pull their way up from behind. It began to look as if Jerry Olson's twenty-five point effort was all for naught until, with only twenty-three seconds to go, Terry Meyer stepped calmly to the free throw line to give Austin a 57-56 victory.

The tremendous pressure the boys had been under finally began to tell in the last game against Minneapolis Washburn. Olson, Meyer, Lightly, Halverson, and Maus played the entire game, and played it well, but the valiant Austin quint just didn't have enough left.

Jerry Olson and Terry Meyer were elected to the all-state team for their fine performance in all games. Credit should be given, too, to all the other members of the squad, for without them, Austin would never have reached the tournament.

B Squad Shows Promise

Austin's B-squad basketball team had a very successful '54-'55 season. Backed by the strategy and plays of their able coach, Blair Hainer, the boys compiled a very impressive record of nine wins and only four losses.

This squad, one of the most able B-squads Austin has floored in years, was well-balanced with good bench strength. No starter was absolutely sure of his position, and each fought hard throughout the season to maintain his team standing.

Paced by such potential A-squad stars as Ron Carothers, Bob Lillquist, and Jim Randall, the team showed real promise of fruitful years to come in AHS basketball. Time and again it was the sharp shooting eye of Carothers that pulled the squad out of the hole to win. He was consistently a high scorer, and he caged 24 points against Rochester's B-squad. Lillquist's work on the backboards and his shooting from the pivot spot made him a valuable man in the lineup. Although not a terrifically high scorer, Randall contributed a good share to the point count, and it was continually through his efforts that the team worked so smoothly.

Dave Seiver, Dave Toresdahl, and Jerry Wilde are also promising prospects for the next couple of years.

Grapplers Have Slow Season

Although lacking power this year, signs show that a promising wrestling team may be in the making for next season. Coaches Sky Wilcox and Ray Lemmerman found the competition keen in the Big Nine with their A squad, losing seven and winning one. Defeating an underdog, Northfield, gave the Austin grapplers their one win in the season.

Supporting next season's team will be the B squad of this year. They leave behind them an undefeated record by drubbing all Big Nine foes plus Blue Earth and Minneapolis North.

With the returning A and B squad members there is a possibility of a promising record in 1956.

Lettermen Return For '55-'56 Squad

Lacking a good reserve from last year, the Austin swimming team found it difficult to overcome their opponents. Under the coaching of Vern Ojanpa, the team won one of eight meets, the win being an impressive victory over Pillsbury Academy of Owatonna. In sweeping the majority of the events, Austin scored sixty-five points to their opponents sixteen.

Lettermen Joe Blowers, Allen Anderson, Jack Saari, Jim VanDoren, Bill LeBarron, Ken MacDonald, Jim Veverka, and Steve Farnsworth will return to support next year's swimming team, while only letterman Dave Johnson graduates.

Besides the medley team, Allen Anderson and Joe Blowers entered the state meet but failed to qualify in their respective events.

One of the most promising swimmers of the returning squad will be Jack Saari, a sophomore, who showed speed and versatility in the medley. Joe Blowers, Austin's diver, has shown improvement yearly and should place high in next year's diving competition.

Packer Nine Has Undefeated Season

The Austin High School baseball team, piloted by Dick Seltz, completed another successful season. They breezed through the spring with a 15-0 record, capturing the Big Nine, District, Regional, and State high school trophies.

The Austin Packers captured the District II championship with wins over LeRoy, Albert Lea, and Adams. LeRoy fell easily to the Austin nine, but Albert Lea proved more difficult with Austin taking a 6-5 win. Bob Mathias starred against Adams by pitching a no-hit game and giving Austin an 11-0 victory.

Mathias also proved himself in the first game of the Region One tourny by pitching a four hitter and defeating Owatonna 6-2. The Region One championship was wrapped up by Austin in defeating Winona 4-0.

And Cops State Title

After two consecutive years of holding the runner-up spot in the State High School Baseball Tournament, Austin finally brought home the State champ trophy. With 1-0 and 2-1 victories over Montgomery and Norwood-Young America respectively, Austin advanced to meet and defeat Duluth Denfield 3-2 in one of the weirdest games in the tourny's history. After the game had supposedly ended, the referee called interference on the Duluth catcher. Upon resuming the game, Terry Meyer smashed a double which scored Frank Luksik and Dave Ploof and won the game. Although Meyer was the hero, Gary Underhill must also be given special recognition for his record of allowing only four hits during the entire tourny.

Lettermen Return Future Hopeful

An undefeated record wasn't the only big hit of the season for the Austin nine. Three boys played crucial parts in the tourney which led them to berths in the all tournament squad with nine other state boys. While Gary Underhill allowed only four hits in twenty two innings, Dave Ploof at second base, and shortstop Frank Luksik showed their all tournament form through excellent fielding.

Hopes of returning to the state tourney can't be pushed into the background. Five of the thirteen men have graduated, but returning to support Coach Seltz will be Bob Mathias, Dave Ploof, Dale Beckel, Dan Greenameyer, Terry Meyer, Larry Arnold, Gary Underhill, and Dean Lommen.

B-squad Builds Foundation

To field a winning baseball team, a coach needs players who have been well versed in baseball fundamentals and well trained in the application of these fundamentals. In the well-rounded athletic program of Austin High School, this training starts ir the early years of junior high. No sooner is the snow off the ground then the call goes out for those boys interested in B squad or junior high baseball.

Many ninth and tenth grade boys turn out for B squad, each anxious to prove his worth and earn a position on Mr. Lonning's well coached team. After a few weeks of intense practice, the boys are ready to play some contest games. Competition is provided by B squaders from Owatonna, Rochester, Mankato, and Mason City.

During the 1954 season, the Austin B squad won one game and lost four. This record is not an impressive one, but the playing experience gained by the boys will prove to be extremely valuable when it is time for them to play A squad ball.

Also participating in the spring practices are many seventh and eighth grade boys under the direction of Mr. Lehrke. These junior high practices consist mainly of drill on rules and fundamentals of the game.

Linksters Take Big Nine

The spring of 1954 proved to be one of the most successful seasons in recent years for the Austin High School golf team. Out of six matches in the Big Nine conference, Austin's only loss was to Albert Lea. Forty-three boys reported to Coach Walt Lembcke to comprise the team. From these, the following won letters: Don Christianson (captain), John Schiltz, Rick Arney, David P. Johnson, Hank Gower, Jon Webber, and Jim Lembcke.

Most surprising was the upset of favored Albert Lea by Austin's winning the Big Nine Golf Championship. Leading the attack were Webber, Schiltz, Arney, and Johnson. Webber shot a nifty 118 to win scoring honors for the team.

Returning to bolster the 1955 team will be lettermen David Johnson (1955 captain), Jon Webber, and Jim Lembcke. Prospects not to be overlooked are Howie Wennes, Dale Hall, David Baudler, and Bruce Hall.

Racket Men Win District

Coach Bill Lewis' second year as varsity coach ended with the 1954 Racketeers winning the District Two tennis title. This entitled them to compete in the Regional where Rochester defeated Austin 3-0.

This past year's squad was the best in AHS since its beginning, losing only to state champs Rochester and an exceptionally strong Faribault Shattuck team.

While 1954 was the team's successful year, this season will be primarily a building year with Lewis and his boys working to strengthen positions and gain experience for coming years. However, returning lettermen Lee Wilcox, Roger Knutson, Harold Silbaugh, plus several promising sophomores and juniors make another District Title and successful season a possibility.

Individuals Pace Track Team

Although the thinclads of AHS sported an unsuccessful season, individual stars were born in 1954. Possibly the most spectacular individual was Jim Todd who reached the state meet by placing first and second respectively in the District and Regional. Along with Todd were Jim Bumgarner, first in the mile; Gary Peterson, second in the 880; Pat Maloney, first in the pole vault; and Ken Clifford, first in the high jump and second in the 100 yard dash, all showing at the Albert Lea District Meet.

Other events in which Austin participated but failed to place were the 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, the 440 yard dash, the 880 relay team, the mile relay, and the discus.

Coach John Saari and assistants Art Hass and Leighton Richert feel that with experience gained from past years plus a veteran squad of DeFor, Lillquist, Moe, Veverka, and White, 1955's chances of success are augmented. Prospects are also much brighter for the district and regional meets with such stars as weight man, Gene White; dash men, Ken Clifford and Don Cunningham; and distance men, Roger Lillquist, Marv Veverka, and Jim Randall. The relays in the 880 and mile also appear stronger.

The highlight of the track year came when the two mile relay team set a new record of 8 minutes, 47 seconds. Participating in the relay held at Faribault were John Bumgarner, Gary Peterson, Dale Dahl, and Roger Lillquist. The run consisted of each member of the relay team running a half mile apiece and passing the baton from one to another as each finished his part of the race.

Track lettermen for 1954 were Clifford, Cunningham, DeFor, Lillquist, Moe, Veverka, White, G. Peterson, Bumgarner, Chapek, Dahl, Maloney, Todd, and Stoike. Five of these lettermen will return.

CHEERLEADERS

They Also Serve Who Stand and Cheer

Since Minnesota school athletics lean predominately toward boys participation, a girl's contribution to the high school sports world is either as a fan or a cheerleader. In Austin High School a cheerleader's roll is of utmost importance to the success of sports. Without cheers and constant crowd enthusiasm, a team may easily become dispirited.

To many people, being a cheerleader seems glamorous and attractive, but the many long hours of concentrated practice cannot be overlooked. In spite of these, our cheerleaders still seem to have an excess of pep when a game day dawns and there are cheers to be lead.

Showing an almost endless amount of energy at games and pep fests were Austin's cheerleaders—Nancy Orcutt, Jean Naslund, Joyce Grant, Mary Swenson, and Dee McDermott. Nancy will graduate, and even though the others must try out again next year, their experience gained this past year will very likely qualify them for another year of cheerleading at AHS.

MUSIC and DRAMA

Music and Drama Beneficial to All

Although a student may not achieve Broadway or the Met, there are immeasurable benefits received from participation in drama and music groups. Poise, appreciation, and self-discipline are three of the most important results of an individual's experience in these fields.

Whether the student is a beginner, an intermediate or a polished performer, he can find his niche in the variety and number of music and drama groups active in Austin High School. As a result, music and drama have come to play an important part in our school life—so important, in fact, that even the spectators follow closely such activities and share in the trials as well as the triumphs.

Perfect Performance Dramatists' Goal

Since Dirk and Bauble is the ultimate goal of all student lovers of the stage and dramatics, juniors and seniors answer readily for the chance to become members.

A very impressive initiation welcomed new members in the fall. After the initiation and ceremony were completed, they became full-fledged members of the club.

Acting is only one of the duties of a loyal Dirk and Bauble member. The many phases of dramatics are undertaken by enthusiastics students under the direction of Miss Spaulding. The officers also work hard to make the club successful. This year's officers were: Dave McLaughlin, president; Shirley Kezar, vice-president; and Jo Watt, secretary-treasurer.

Our school has endeavored to produce the very best types of plays and present them as close to perfection as possible. This has been accomplished through the cooperation of the club's participants.

Room for One More Captivates Audience

The audience sat in hushed expectancy as the curtain rose on the fall junior-senior drama, Room For One More. The play centered around the Rose family who lived in the Pumpkin Shell and always managed to make room in their home and hearts for one more child in need of affection and understanding. Perhaps the most difficult child whom they undertook to help was the obstinate cripple, Jimmy John, played by David G. Johnson.

Because of the nature of the play, it was somewhat sentimental and many members of the audience felt an occasional tug at their heartstrings. When the final curtain descended on the Rose family, its heartaches and its joys, the fascinated audience was reluctant to leave.

Thespians Train Actors For Future Performances

"No, no, please don't hit me with that wet noodle," pleaded half frightened but inwardly thrilled Thespian initiates as they jumped at every order. The next day a few bruises and scratches were proudly displayed as the full-fledged Thespian members agreed "it was worth it!"

Thespians, the sophormore drama group which lays the groundwork for future participation in Dirk and Bauble and senior high stage productions, also contributes its share to AHS entertainment. Four plays were presented by this year's group: Balcony Scene, If Women Worked As Men Do, At the Junction, and A Portrait of Nelson Holiday Jr. Because of the variety in these plays each had its own audience appeal and each presented challenging roles for the budding dramatists.

Other activities were a radio play and a trip to Albert Lea to see the production Green Pastures.

Wildcat Willie Stars Again

Although some junior high activities are overshadowed by the senior high, the Junior High Drama Club experiences its moment of triumph each year with its assembly presentations to grades seven through nine. Two ever-popular Wildcat Willie plays were produced this year. In Wildcat Willie Swears Off Swearing, Willie played by Eddie Flitton, encountered many humorous obstacles before he was finally able to overcome his ungentlemanly habits.

Wildcat Willie Gets Girl Trouble was equally delightful. Willie, this time portrayed by Richard Ulland, didn't realize how popular he was until he found himself surrounded by girls. Eventually he discovered that females weren't so silly and uninteresting as he had thought.

While Miss Isabel Daniels, junior high drama director, rehearses with these young players, she is also acquainting them with stage fundamentals.

Orchestra Develops Talent, Appreciation

Being a member of the Austin Symphony Orchestra is an experience that brings a great deal of pleasure and develops an appreciation of good music.

In their concerts the orchestra, directed by Mr. Paul Heltne, played a variety of selection ranging from the serious Introduction to Act III (Lohengrin) to the carefree Highlights from Oklahoma. At the fall concert Miss Jean Miller, high school strings instructor, conducted Port Royal, 1861, a folk song suite for string orchestras. The mid-winter concert featured The Typewriter by LeRoy Anderson, with Carlotta Norton at the typewriter.

The high point of the year for the string quartet was playing at the North Central Division of the Music Educators Conference in Cleveland, Ohio. On this trip, they also performed at Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio. Members of the quartet are: Melissa Dougherty, first violinist; Pat Nelson, second violinist; Janet Hanson, violist; and Carolyn Strand, cellist.

Stars and Stripes Becomes Traditional

As well known as the scarlet and white of Austin's athletic teams are the two-toned blue uniforms of its band members. To many students, the flame of ambition to belong to the band burns as brightly as the similar desire of an athlete to be a great star.

Besides putting in "umpteen" appearances for pep assemblies, home and tournament games, and concerts, the senior band marched at football games and in the homecoming parade.

Regularly scheduled concerts during the year add variety to the program of marches, swing tunes, school songs, and novelty numbers which are the chief features of the band's appearances at athletic events. As a concert finale, the Stars and Stripes Forever with Mr. C. V. Sperati, band director, playing his drum has become a favorite with the student body.

Junior Music Groups Rehearse, Perform

A growing student interest in music is indicated by the large membership in this year's Junior Orchestra. It is from this group that replacements are picked for the graduating string members of the Senior Orchestra.

Study and Practice Essential for Musicians

Before any musician achieves the state of near perfection which is his goal, he must spend a great deal of time in study and practice. The same is true of young students in Intermediate Band. Preceding their admittance into a more advanced group is a period which they spend becoming familiar with their instruments and studying technique.

Recently organized, but rising steadily in popularity is the ninth grade girls' triple trio. During their appearances in recitals and public performances, they won the confidence and support of their audiences.

A well known senior high group, the Silhouettes, has been circulating in Austin appearing on television, singing for banquets, clubs, assemblies and church groups for the past three years.

Their Voices Blend In Perfect Harmony

Continuing to be one of the school's most popular organizations, the senior chorus proved its capability and versatility by its wide variety of selections. Under the direction of Mr. Wilbur Funk, the chorus presented a number of concerts including the traditional Christmas festival. Chorus members said their greatest thrill came when they sang at Baccalaureate.

A select group had the privilege of singing in the All-State Chorus of 1200 voices which performed at the Minnesota Education Association Convention in Minneapolis.

The Big Nine Festival was not only a challenge for the choristers, but it gave them an opportunity to compare themselves with other schools.

The Austin Aires, a chosen group from the chorus, are quickly gaining recognition in the entertainment circles of Austin.

Tenth Grade Singers Form New Groups

The newly organized tenth grade girls' chorus, directed by Mr. Wilbur Funk, has given many girls fundamental training for more advanced chorus work. They participated in the annual Christmas concert combined with the ninth grade chorus. Although these two choruses practiced individually, they worked together on performances for concerts throughout the year.

Out of this larger group has grown the tenth grade girls' triple trio. The triple trio, a more informal group, has taken an active part in the entertainment program of Austin High School.

Learn Fundamentals

Throughout the year both the ninth grade girls' and boys' choruses have prepared for higher music. Breathing exercise, tone quality, and pronunciation are stressed so that when the student reaches senior high, he has mastered the fundamentals of music and is ready for more advanced choral singing.

The choruses participated in the traditional Christmas concert and took an active part in the junior high assemblies.

Sweethearts Sponsor Exchange Student

"Sweethearts make love their very own" was being hummed throughout the school as AHS undertook the task of presenting Sweethearts—the first musical in seven years. Sweethearts was a school project combining the efforts of the choruses, orchestra, band and the many committees needed for the production.

The dramatics were under the direction of Miss Cecily Spaulding while Mr. Wilbur Funk and Mr. P. O. Heltne undertook the music instruction.

Tryouts were held and the "selected" began work almost immediately. The long hours were tedious and nerve racking, but it was all forgotten when the auditorium was packed both nights for the performance.

This production was staged in order to raise money to send two Austin High School students to foreign countries.

Student Council Gives Young Peoples' Ideas

As the governing organ of the student body, the Student Council works to create better relations between the students and the administration. This year the work of the group was made clearer to the students by an assembly. In it the members of the Council presented an actual meeting.

Like the other student groups in the school, the Student Council assumes the responsibility of concessions at some football and basketball games. They also put on three of the more elaborate mixers during the year.

This year a new constitution was drawn up which will help to make the Student Council more effective. By separating the junior and senior high groups, more responsibility and opportunity to gain experience will be afforded each group.

Latin Club Governed By Roman Tradition

"Slave! Vale!" These phrases are commonly heard when the Latin Club holds its meetings. The beginning of the meeting is read in Latin and based upon Roman tradition.

In the fall of the school year a slave auction is held. The "slaves" are the first year Latin students who, after they have been sold, are required by Roman law to obey their masters by carrying books, cleaning out the citizen's locker, or whatever their owners see fit to command.

Early in the year the initiation of the second year students takes place in the cafeteria as the "barbarians" are taken on a tour of Hades. They enter past Cerberus, the three headed dog, are judged by the rulers of the dark realm, and meet many of the other denizens of this kingdom.

The Romans Liked Their Festivals, Too

During the Christmas season the Saturnalia festival is held. All slaves are allowed to do as they wish and every Roman is invited to the banquet. Everyone brings money to be used for toys for underprivileged children to make their holidays a little brighter.

A Roman wedding is one of the annual spring events in which Latin Club members participate. The bride and groom are chosen from the members of the club who are seniors. The ceremony is complete with a procession headed by flute players and torch bearers. Also taking an active part in the activities are the Camillus, the matron of honor, the bride's boys, and the Pontifex Maximus.

The funeral of the Pontifex Maximus is one of the final highlights of the year. The new Pontifex is installed when the preceding one is declared "dead", because of his graduation.

Loteria! This word familiar only to Spanish students, can be heard at parties of the El Circulo Espanol. Loteria is a game very similar to American Bingo but is played with pictures instead of numbers.

The "Spaniards" seem always to have a good time. One meeting took the form of a pot luck supper and Miss Ruth Wheelock showed slides and told of her experiences in Columbia, South America, where she taught for several years.

The annual Christmas party was highlighted by observing the custom of breaking the pinata. The pinata is a breakable container which is filled with small gifts. One person uses a stick to break it and the rest of the group scramble for its contents.

As a good will Christmas project, the club members bought sports equipment for an underprivileged boy in the Austin Area.

Seniors Are Honored As Society Inducts

On March 16, the seniors who had fulfilled the requirements of the National Honor Society were inducted at a formal ceremony. The senior high and the parents of the prospective Society members were invited.

To become members of the National Honor Society, the seniors must be in the upper fifteen per cent of their class and be good citizens of the school. It is deemed an honor by all to be accepted as a member of this group because of its high standards.

Following the formal initiation, the members and their parents were invited to a tea which was held in the cafeteria. Refreshments were served by the girls of the Friendship Club.

Tea, Style Show Given By Friendship Club

Formed to promote friendship between high school girls, the Friendship Club is one of the largest and most active clubs in the school. Into their hands is put the responsibility for all WPA week festivities. They also sponsor mixers and handle concessions at football and basketball games when it is their turn.

The Senior Friendship Club tea is an annual affair which is looked forward to by all tenth, eleventh and twelfth grade girls. The girls and their mothers are first entertained at a program in the large auditorium, after which they go to the cafeteria for coffee or punch and cookies.

Another project of the group is the annual style show. This affair, which was combined with a talent show this year, always receives much attention. A Christmas theme was used this year, and Santa Claus described the clothes as the models walked through a pine-covered wreath.

"Learning to do

Learning to live
Living to serve."

This appropriate motto of the Future Farmers of America could pertain to all of us. The Austin FFA chapter is the largest and one of the most active in Minnesota.

Members attend three important conventions during the year—the National FFA Convention at Kansas City, Missouri, the District Convention at Kenyon, and the State Convention in Minneapolis. Both at these meetings and at the State Fair, the Austin Chapter took its share of firsts in varied FFA projects.

Delegates Attend State, District FHA Meetings

The purpose of the Future Homemakers of America is to help young girls realize the importance of learning and accepting the responsibilities of being a homemaker. For Austin chapter members this year's program was highlighted by two well attended conventions. The District meeting was held at Faribault and the State Convention was in Minneapolis. At the latter meeting Arlette Torkelson was elected State FHA vice-president.

Because of their various money making projects, the club was again able to offer a one hundred dollar scholarship to help further the education of a deserving home economics student.

FTA Studies the Teaching Profession

The Future Teachers of American organization acquaints students interested in the teaching profession with its opportunities and responsibilities. Members of the local group often visit the elementary schools in Austin and observe teachers' methods and techniques. This year these prospective teachers also took out of town trips. Two schools which they visited were Winona State Teachers College in Winona and St. Olaf College in Northfield. The students later evaluated their trips.

Journalism Has New Home

Last fall the publications department of AHS eagerly moved into its new quarters. The old band room had been converted into two classrooms. As the year has passed, we on the staffs of the Sentinel and the Austinian have come to realize how fortunate we are to have such favorable working conditions. True, at times nothing seems to be in its proper place and extra storage space seems to have vanished. On the other hand, we have found many of the usually hectic assignments lightened by the convenience of our new set-up, which is, no doubt, one of the best in the state.

Deadlines Keep Us Busy

"Did anyone take that picture of the class officers? How can I start this story? Give me an inspiration for a lead!" Such phrases as these are familiar cries from the publications department. The staff of both the Sentinel and the Austinian are continually plagued by "rough assignments" and deadlines.

Just before a paper comes out or the "big" book goes to press, it might seem to an outsider that confusion is the rule rather than the exception. However, there is method in our madness and every two weeks during the school year the Sentinel is delivered during fourth hour; and on Awards Day the Austinian arrives in homerooms.

Growing Population Necessitates Expansion

Because the student body has grown so large so fast, it has become necessary to have two libraries—one for the junior high and one for the senior high.

The books which were transferred to the junior high library were, of course, not enough to fill the shelves and, therefore, the shelves look somewhat like Mother Hubbard's cupboards—bare. More books have been ordered so there will eventually be a complete selection in both libraries.

The students in the Library Service Club not only keep peace and quiet, but also put the books in order and in readable condition. For their efforts they are given "A's" for doing a certain number of hours work.

Students Help to Maintain Order

In every study hall, the teacher who supervises the students as they work diligently on their homework is assisted by a member of the student body. These assistants take attendance and help with the general supervision of the study hall.

Whenever there is a concert, basketball game, dramatic presentation, or some other event at the high school, the ushers, in their distinctive green suit coats, add a professional air to the occasion. Their varied duties are to take tickets, distribute programs, and keep people off the gym floor at basketball games. Clubs Correspond To Student Interests

The clubs of Austin High School are organized to correspond to the variety of interests which is inevitable in an institution of this size.

For those who have a yen to conduct scientific experiments and are interested in the study of science, there are the Junior Science Club and the Junior Academy of Science.

If one has the urge to roam the countryside in search of an intriguing picture, the Camera Club might be just the thing. The members learn the principles of photography and how to apply them. The hobby is not only interesting, but can be profitable as well.

Students Assist in Operation of School

The girls who help in Mr. Christgau's office assist in the operation of the custodial department by answering the telephone and looking for custodians when they are needed.

The music room girls help keep the music department running smoothly by sorting and filing music, typing orders, and checking chorus gowns.

If one has a headache or a cut finger, the able assistants in the nurses office will be glad to ease the pain or supply a bandage. This is a good place for girls who are interested in nursing to get a sample of the type of work done by nurses.

You can find anything from swimsuits to overshoes at the Lost and Found desk. This is what makes it such an interesting place. The girls receive articles which have been found in halls and try to locate the owners.

With the increase in school population and the resulting increase in the congestion in the halls, the door patrol's job of guarding doors and directing traffic in the halls is becoming more important.

GAA Caters to Sports Enthusiasts

Homecoming is one of the focal points of the entire school year and it is the important job of the Girls' Athletic Association to supervise the planning of the various activities connected with this festive occasion.

Committees are formed to take charge of the snake-dance, the coronation of the Homecoming Queen, the float, and the skit for the pep assembly. All the girls cooperate to the utmost to make this an occasion which will long be remembered.

Homecoming is not the only activity of Senior GAA. As the word "athletic" indicates, the members are sportsminded. Swimming, volleyball, and basketball are favorite indoor sports. When the weather turns warmer, many members go to the Athletic Field for softball, tennis and badminton.

Although the competition between the girls becomes quite keen, nevertheless, a sportsmanlike atmosphere prevails.

These Are The Leaders Charting Our Course

Every organization, like every smooth running machine, must have certain essential parts to keep it operating effeciently. Our organization called school has as its important parts a superintendent, a principal, and assistant principals. It is their job to plan for our education, provide adequate facilities, and to keep our machine operating effectively.

School board members

Business Manager S. L. Coumbe

Vocational Director Floyd Lueben

Education Is Our Right Also Our Responsibility

A public school system is part of our heritage. Education is the great American gift, given to all—asking nothing in return except initiative and appreciation.

We students in Austin High School are especially fortunate in the system which has been provided for us. College preparatory, business, and homemaking are representative of the variety of courses which we may pursue.

The recent completion of the Area Vocational School offers additional facilities with which we can more adequately prepare for the future.

As our enrollment increases, so do the duties of the administrators. It is their desire to see that we get every educational advantage so we may develop our capacities to the fullest. Despite their busy schedules, they find time for consultation of individual problems, and set an example of wisdom, patience, and consideration. Thus they point the way, we follow, and education results.

Junior High Emerging Into Separate Unit

By expanding educational facilities, learning becomes easier and more enjoyable. Thus, with the rapid growth of Austin High School, the Junior High, under the supervision of Mr. D. L. Warren, is in the process of becoming an independent unit. The addition of a separate library and a new location for the Junior High office point to the future when it will become a separate school.

Variety Is the Spice of Life

Someone once said, "Variety is the spice of life." Holding true to this tradition is the Austin faculty. Of the 130 members teaching here, their backgrounds represent a variety of schools and experiences from all over the country.

The courses they teach often vary as much as their backgrounds and will range from the traditional subjects of English and history to the more modern home management, beauty culture and auto mechanics.

In addition to the variety in classroom work, their outside activities fluctuate almost as much. Some enjoy bridge or golf, while others have part time jobs. In the summer months traveling and advance study is often done in an attempt to further their education. Trips to Europe and Mexico may be included in their itinerary. Recently Mr. Robert Dufrense had the privilege of being chosen the Austin Community Ambassador and will spend the summer months in Turkey.

CLASSES

Class Officers Spark Governing Bodies

The officers of the junior and sophomore classes are an important branch of our governing body. The important duties of the junior class officers include choosing a class ring and planning the Prom. They are shown here as they select the rings for their class to vote on. The main duty of the sophomore class officers is the decoration of the auditorium for baccalaureate and commencement.

Sophomore officers

Junior officers

Arlette Torkelson - vice president, Bill Dunlap - president, Peg McLaughlin - treasurer, Gwen Colescott - secretary.

Junior high student council officers

John Brennand, Nathan Johnson, Darrel Blowers, Meier Wolf, Ann Mikkelson, Barbara Berven, Sharon Whitcomb.

Younger Councilmen Share in Government

The junior high representatives to the student council are active and contribute much to the good of the school, even though they are sometimes overshadowed by senior high members. Next year it is expected that the junior and senior high student councils will be separated. Here the junior high student council members are seen in the cafeteria as they discuss plans for the revision of the PA system so that records can be heard throughout the dining room.

Invitational Encourages Prospective Tankers

"Which event shall I take part in —the backstroke, diving, or breaststroke?" This question was uppermost in the minds of these seventh and eighth grade boys before the invitational meet. Among the events were the 50 yard freestyle, the 100 yard freestyle, the 50 yard breaststroke, the 75 yard medley relay, the backstroke, and diving.

Potluckers Anxiously Offer Pre-game Toast

Pop, potato chips, and chocolate cake are familiar sights at pre-game parties where girls don't worry about figures but concentrate on energy needed to cheer the team to victory. Marilyn Beyers, Deanna Day, Diane Jeannockowi, Pat Echdahl, Jeannine Murphy, Judy Dimmel, Terry Jepsen, and Pat Mellem hurriedly sip cokes before rushing to a big game!

Teas Are Fun But Also Involve Work

Behind the scenes of most productions there is much activity that is rarely seen by spectators. Here Phyllis Perry, Sharon Hansen, June Nordmeier, Judy Nelson, and Marcia Skinner tackle the assignment of dishes after a tea. The tea was held for friends and relatives of the home management girls who participated in the show.

Pardon Me! Your Comic Book Is Showing

While sitting in the library one day
The tax of toil I could not pay.
Down from the nearest shelf I took
The "Atlas" to hide my comic book.

Then from behind the desk she came
Knowingly, angrily calling my name.
There was I, proud and haughty,
Caught redhanded being naughty.

The 8:15 Bell Rings Another Day Begins

At 8:15 each morning students burst through the main doors and converge upon AHS. Some run, some walk, some are happy, some are sad, some have their home work done, and some do not. Regardless of the manner of entrance or degree of preparation, all come for the single purpose of gaining more knowledge in these halls of higher learning.

Junior High Office Is Expanded

Each year our school changes and expands. A recent change is the new junior high attendance office. Students briefly had difficulty in finding the new location, but it was not long before the change became routine. Proof that confusion no longer lingers is revealed by Jerry Johnson and Aneitta Zeimer as they confer with Barbara Hoff, secretary.

Art Offers Challenge To Creative Students

The call of the clay brings many students to art class. Here sophomore Phyllis Noble applies the finishing touches to her clay statue. After she is finished, the statue will be baked to harden it. She hopes it will not explode during the baking process as clay articles sometimes do.

Future Mechanics Get Practical Experience

A layman might ask if a faulty motor has a maladjusted carburetor or ruptured spark plugs. But if Virgil Fretham, Merten Houdek, or Alven Ferguson, student auto mechanics, were asked about motor problems, they would point out that such problems have specific causes and names as well as logical solutions.

Style Show Climax Of Sewing Unit

From seeming confusion came an orderly eighth grade style show. In order that each girl might make her appearance at the right moment, she was assigned a number. As her number was called, she found her place in the waiting line. Thus the audience saw a timid but dignified girl proudly modeling the garment she had sewn.

Chemists Check Display With Critical Eye

Presto! Abracadabra! Open Sesame! No, neither these phrases nor the rub of a golden lamp bring about effective display cases. The clue to successful results is much effort and careful planning. Shown here are David Angel, Bill LeBaron, and Don Jensen as they complete the chemistry exhibit on carbon.

Plans, Toil, Reward = Speech Projects

Original plays, scrapbooks, and sound effects were just a few of the projects completed in speech class. The projects represented hours of work, but the final results were rewarding. Also included in the projects were two Greek theatres. Deanna Hovland, Shirley Nelson, and Pat Hanson examine movable parts of a Grecian replica.

SENIORS

Exchange Students Keys To World Understanding

As we seniors come to the end of our high school career, we pause to look back on the events of the past twelve years. Memories of homecoming, the prom, and class plays will linger for years to come. Then, too, there are memories of chemistry, Latin, C.P. English, geometry, and speech, which, tho difficult, filled our heads with worthwhile knowledge.

Perhaps the most vivid experiences we recall are the senior hours we spent with the three foreign students who joined our class for a year. Remember how Ragnar Huseby of Norway reacted to his first pep fest? However, before long he was sharing our enthusiasm and his voice joined in as we cheered our team. Remember, too, how Sigrid Wulf and Ann Heidenreich of Germany couldn't get used to the idea of not going to school on Saturday? By the end of the first quarter, they were typical AHS students—going to games and enjoying the week-end parties.

But we'll remember the more serious side too, as they recalled the war years in Europe and their escapes to freedom; and our realization that the Norwegians and Germans are just like us—the only difference is in the language spoken. Truly, we can say that these three visiting seniors became key figures in international understanding. To them we also say thank-you and wish them luck for the future.

EACH YEAR We Like

The Younger Generation

This year the graduating class (Anno Domini 1955) of our high school has again substantiated our confidence.

WE MAKE THIS DEDICATION. Not only to those who attained high achievement in class leadership, athletics, drama, and those other pleasant tasks of the extra curriculum, but also to the boys and girls who completed their daily responsibilities in such a manner that they absorbed from their school life those interests and attitudes that will bring forth from them good citizenships, community service, and a wholesome way of life.

We are confident that this year's graduating class will take its place beside the best of previous years, ready to build and improve our nation's way of life.
